

NIEM Technical Deep-Dive Distance Learning Now Available

The NIEM Management Office (NMO) is pleased to announce that we will be hosting three half day training sessions beginning on January 11, 2022. These sessions will be conducted by our very knowledgeable lead development team ~~and~~ are meant for individuals who want a deep dive into the technical details of NIEM, typically developers and implementers. Participants should expect to attend all three half days to complete the training.

Mr. Tom Carlson, a lead developer for NIEM, led a pilot cohort in September and November 2021 to gather feedback from users on how to optimize the learning experience virtually. The NIEM Management Office surveyed participants and this information was used to fine-tune the virtual class environment. Mr. Carlson implemented recommendations from each class and now this class is available to the public.

If you or your team have been looking for FREE NIEM technical training, now is the time to register (<hyperlink url>) to reserve your spot. Classes will be conducted on the Microsoft Teams platform. Class ~~runs, January 11, 12, 13, 2022~~ from 1PM – 5:00 PM ET.

Register Now, Spaces are limited!

Deleted: . These sessions

Moved down [1]: Spaces are limited!

Deleted: begins

Deleted: Tuesday,

Deleted: and will run daily through Thursday, January 13, 2022

Moved (insertion) [1]